Re: Coronavirus (COVID-19) Resource Page

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

The Coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak is a challenge unlike anything we have faced before in the history of our great International Union. It threatens not only our health, and the health of our loved ones, but the construction industry, the global economy, and much of our very way of life. To help you meet this challenge, and keep you and our members and their families safe, we have put together an online clearinghouse of COVID-19 resources at <https://www.liuna.org/covid-19-resources>.

This new web page includes a wide range of resources to help you respond to this outbreak, including:

- Internal guidance for LIUNA affiliates;
- Information and updates about our federal advocacy efforts;
- Health and safety information and resources;
- Training programs and information;
- Links to government resources.

We will continue to update, and add to, these resources as the situation evolves over the coming weeks and months.

Thanks to the efforts of those who came before us, and to your ongoing hard work and dedication, LIUNA has a robust infrastructure with which to respond to this unprecedented public health, job, and economic crisis. LIUNA's COVID-19 Resources webpage is one way we are putting this infrastructure to work to inform our members and their families, our contractor partners, and our leadership of the various COVID-19 issues and developments pertaining to our Union.

In our proud, 117-year history, we have weathered war and peace, economic booms and busts, good times and bad, by standing together, side-by-side and shoulder-to-shoulder. I know that we will meet this current challenge in the same way; as a mighty force of more than 500,000 strong, proud, and united members of LIUNA.

May you and your loved ones remain healthy and safe.

With kind regards, I am

Fraternally yours,

TERRY O'SULLIVAN
General President
